“ There are no words to express the sadness I feel now for your loss. When the pain of death becomes overwhelming, we can turn to God in prayer. The Bible tells us to "throw all of your anxieties on him, because he cares for you," (1 Peter 5:7). Take comfort in knowing that he loves us and that "one day he will wipe tears from our eyes, and that death will be no more,"(Isaiah 25:8). I hope this scripture gives you peace and endurance during this time of bereavement.

Hey little Brother, I just wanted to let you and the world know a few things. When we were kids growing up I always did everything I could to protect you and our baby brother Larry, but I grew up and God brought an angel into my life named Cynthia who lead me back to Him. Through the years the two of them have blessed me so much, that I could never repay them in a million years. I moved off 30 years ago to live my life when you were a teenager. During that time things changed. We all have demons in our lives we have to fight. Mine is called a temper and yours came from a bottle. As hard as I tried to protect you from it I could not and it is killing me inside. With mine and your demons together sometimes it would cause a lot of problems, but I want you to know , and I'm sure you do that I would walk through hell with a pair of gasoline underwear on to fight that son of a bitch they call the devil over you. I have and always will love you little Bro, and I know that you are sitting beside our Lord now watching over the rest of us. We will see each other again someday in Heaven.
