“ My Grandmother was one of the finest ladies I was fortunate to be blessed to have in my life. She was gracious, kind and loving all of my life. She was a true child of God, she seemed to be able to see beyond the human frailties and faults and able to forgive those that most of us would find difficult. I honor her simple and loving life as I struggle to think of the long talks that will not happen anymore. The long phone conversations we had, and now won't be able to hear her voice again. Yet, I can still hear her calling my name and the excitement in her voice as we were looking toward the new journey of her moving closer to us. I find solace in the knowledge that she did not suffer or linger in ways that were so against her wishes. She is now in her heavenly body without pain and despair, loss or fear. She is joyously enjoying the reunion in heaven with her loved ones there and watching over us. With all my love, Julia
