“ We cannot even begin to express our sincerest sympathy for the loss of such a wonderful man. He was awesome and we loved him so much. I am so very thankful to have gotten to see him a couple of weeks ago and will forever cherish those hugs, kiss on the cheek and the words he spoke to me. Charles was so fond of Lowell and enjoyed visiting with him when Lowell would call for the grader and missed not being able to see him as much after he changed jobs. He really thinks a lot of Lowell and always speaks highly of him. We know that you are all suffering and just know that you are in our prayers and if there is anything that we can do please call and we will be there. Rosemary we love you and our hearts ache with you and for you and the kids and grandkids.

“ Lowell was my dear and wonderful brother for many years. When we were kids, we tormented each other and sometimes fought like cats and dogs, but we also fought anyone else who tried to hurt the other. His life served as a great tribute to our parents' way of life and was a wonderful example to my children, grandchildren, and to me. He was my lifetime protector, advisor, and friend, and I'm not sure how to survive without him. My heart was broken, seeing his suffering/pain for the past few months, and I felt totally helpless at helping ease any of it. Although I will miss his presence every minute of my lingering days, I'm happy that he now can feel well again and enjoy the reuniting with our parents, grandparents, and others who also loved him dearly.

“ I am so sorry Lilly for your loss. It is such a shame all of our families never got together once in a while when we were young. I'm sure Lowell was a very good outstanding man for his sister is such a wonderful woman. I guess it rubs off on siblings as they grow up. Proud to have him as a cousin.

God bless you all and my heart knows how you feel, for when I found my son dead my heart died. I've only got a piece left but deeply feel your sorrow.
