

Olive Ellis Rumage

January 30, 1920 - January 3, 2015

Olive Ellis Rumage, 94, passed away Saturday, January 3, 2015, in Jacksboro, Texas. Private family burial will be at Oakwood Cemetary in Jacksboro with a memorial service following at 11:00 a.m., Tuesday January 6, 2015 at First Baptist Church, Jacksboro, Texas.

Olive had many interests. She loved to cook, sew, study and compile family history, scrapbook, and crocheted afghans for family and friends. She even penned a poem or two. Most of all, she loved Warren, her husband of 63 years, her family and "the ranch," better known as North Creek Ranch. In her later years, she was not able to go to the ranch but could see it from her bedroom window in town which gave her a great sense of pride. She would say that the years at the ranch were the happiest days of their lives.

Olive was born on January 30, 1920, to Ed and Nannie A. Ellis in Jacksboro, Texas. She graduated from Jacksboro High School in 1939 and attended N.T.S.T.C in Denton. She married Wakley Warren Rumage on July 27, 1940 in Mineral Wells, Texas.

She is survived by a daughter, Ellisene Davis, of San Antonio; a son, Ed Rumage and wife Karen, of Jacksboro; granddaughter Danna Jo Ritter and husband Larry of San Antonio; grandsons Will Rumage and wife Brittni of Celina and Blain Rumage and wife Shalie of Jacksboro; great-grandchildren

her caretakers Ann Amburn, Nora Sanders and Donna Bryant.

“ Olive was a wonderful lady. While growing up in Jack County, I spent many enjoyable times in her home and in the Ellis home. Her artistic and culinary talents were outstanding, and she was always willing to share her knowledge of them. I regret that I have the flu and will not be able to attend her service. She will be missed!
